Finance Committee Chairman Paul R. Bowler of the Granite City Council will act to reinstate the city's present trash and garbage hauling contract under a clause in the existing agreement that requires either party to give a 60-day notice for negotiating new terms, Bowler told the Press-Record Friday.

The present contract is held by Milam-East Division of SCA Services and provides for automatic reinstatement of contract terms at the end of the three-year negotiated agreement if neither the city nor the collection service firm gives a 60-day notice.

Extension of the existing contract at a 5 percent increase in cost for each of three years, 1980-1983, would save the city $338,077 below the $798,099 first-year low bid of the R.D. Johnson Co. of Godfrey, a bid that was among four received by the city during March.

Bowler in a statement Friday told the Press-Record:

"When the Granite City Finance Committee moved to advertise for bids regarding the problem of garbage collection, we duly notified SCA Services of this fact. We never used the terms cancellation and termination, because we wanted to 'test the waters,' as it were, to obtain better garbage collection by advertising.

"We would like to stress at this point that there was never any City Council action to cancel said contract, because we recognized the obvious need to our constituents concerning prompt and reliable garbage collection. The public has, and will continue to be, upmost in our collective mind.

"Pursuant to section 11 in the actual collection disposal contract, 'it is stated that at the expiration of said three (3) year term, and each renewal term thereafter, this contract shall be considered to be automatically renewed for an additional three (3) year term, unless either party shall notify the other party by registered United States mail, no less than sixty (60) days prior to the expiration of the current term thereof, that the notifying party does not desire to renew this contract for said additional term.'

"SCA Services has never notified the Granite City Finance Committee as of the May 2 deadline as to alteration of the existing contract. Therefore, it is the opinion of the city attorney and the Finance Committee that this contract be renewed for the nominal five (5) percent cost to occur during the next three (3) year period.

"This determination by the Finance Committee will result in a savings for local Granite City taxpayers of $338,077.

"This decision is for renewal, legal under state of Illinois statutes of 1977, chapter 24, section 11-19-1."

Cost of garbage collection under the Milam-East contract this year totals $438,975. The current contract provided for payment of $398,000 during the first year (1977-78), with increases of five percent for the following two years. This cost the city $417,900 for the second year of the contract (1978-79) and increased to the $438,975 figure during the present 1979-80 fiscal year.

City officials have become considerably concerned over the problem of garbage and trash collection since four bids were received for a new contract two weeks ago, the lowest of which would nearly double the cost over the contract now in existence.

SCA Services, holder of the present contract, was among the four bidders. That bid was for $326,225 for the first year, with 12 percent increases for each of the two following years of the proposed three-year contract.

In June 1979, while officials of the collection service were negotiating with city officials for a $5,000 monthly additional payment for disposal of sludge from the city's sewage treatment plant, an official of the company called attention to the extension clause of the contract, noting the city could renew its contract by negotiation of a five percent increase annually.

"If that arrangement were to apply through an extension of the current contract, the 1980-81 cost of trash and garbage collection would be $450,925 instead of $326,225 bid by SCA as the first-year cost of a new contract.

"If the council were to provide additional payment for sludge handling, that would be in addition to the contract price. The city has not been paying the $5,000 monthly additional fee it agreed upon last June because that payment specifically was for use of the SCA landfill in Chouteau Township after the regular closing hour of 5 p.m. The city since has limited all sludge hauling to regular work hours before 5 p.m. and no longer requires landfill services on an overtime basis.

Bowler said he is checking all factors in the city's present garbage contract as an alternative to awarding a new contract on the basis of the four bids received by the city.

Terms of the city's present contract with SCA Services are as follows: This contract, made and entered into as of the first day of July, 1977, by and between the Milan East Division of SCA Services, Inc., a Delaware corporation, authorized to do business in Illinois ("Contractor") and the City of Granite

Green denies Mafia link

Former residential developer Jim Green took the witness stand Thursday to testify in his $15 million lawsuit against the Alton Telegraph and two of its former reporters and Green testified that he had been the subject of investigation by a federal grand jury, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and, finally, had been given a lie detector test just before his financial empire crumbled.

The Internal Revenue Service then came in and put liens against all of Green's property and earnings.

Green's suit alleges that the collapse of his two multi-million dollar businesses was the result of a letter sent by Telegraph reporters Joseph Melosi and William Lhotka to the Department of Justice, which alleged Green had acquaintances with known hoodlums and part of his financing came from Mafia money.

The letter, according to Green's attorney Rex Carr of East St. Louis, initiated an investigation by the Federal Home Loan Bank in Chicago and all of Green's credit was cut off by Piaa, under direction of the FHLB. Piaa Federal Savings and Loan went out of existence after an extensive newspaper series about its loan policies and decisions.

Without credit, Green was unable to complete many of the construction projects he had underway, which resulted in the collapse of his companies.

Green told the jury Thursday that when he was being investigated, both the FBI and the federal grand jury in Springfield, which met in late 1972 or early 1973, "wanted to know if I had any connection with the Mafia or the underworld. They were interested in Degrand (former Piaa Savings Vice-President Robert Degrand) and loans he had made me," Green testified.

The investigation continued from 1971 until 1974, when Green took a lie detector test, "and passed it," he testified said.

He said the investigators also asked about his dealings with Don Hazel (mentioned in the letter as allegedly then being the number two crime boss in Madison County) and, "I believe they mentioned Terry Thwait. They asked if I had any money overseas. Asked if Hazel was backing me. They asked about Degrand, if I had given him any kickbacks," Green testified.

He denied any knowledge of syndicate money in either Piaa or in his projects and said he had not received or given money or gifts to Degrand, Hazel or anyone else in return for loans or construction jobs.

Green said that when the FHLB ordered Piaa to suspend loans to him, due to the rumors of Mafia involvement, his cash flow stopped and he was unable to meet his bills, including salaries, payments to his subcontractors and IRS withholdings. By October of 1969, his cash flow had "been stopped completely," the jury was told.

Air patterns remove pollution

This area is not likely to suffer serious and prolonged episodes of air pollution because its geographical location assures "sufficient atmospheric ventilation," according to Charles A. Thornton, associate professor of geography and planning at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In a report prepared by Thornton for the Office of Area Development, the researcher pointed out that an interior location in the middle-latitude portions of the continent normally guarantees consistent, moderate to fast movement of high pressure systems over and beyond this area as they move from west to east across the continent.

"If a high pressure system slows down and becomes relatively stagnant over portions of the east central United States, as they so often do in the summer and early fall, then the ventilation capability of the lower atmosphere is adversely affected," he said.

Thornton explained that stagnant high pressure systems tend to depress the height of the mixing layer and decrease wind velocity within the layer.

"Degradation of either variable wind velocity or ventilation capacity of the atmosphere to disperse air pollution," he added, "topography affect air pollution levels over the area."

Thornton said, pointing out that pollution is concentrated on two levels. There are concentrations of people in the American Bottoms and along the bluffs.

The bluff line communities are located 40 to 65 feet higher than the bottoms. Pollution levels tend to be higher in the American Bottoms not only because of industrial and population concentrations, but because of drainage into the floodplain area from St. Louis and the bluff line communities," he said.

However, Thornton emphasized the local phenomena are not the dominant factors in determining air pollution levels.

"Regional scale meteorological phenomena and the determining factors and whenever regional scale weather variables combine to create poor atmospheric ventilation capacity, local variables can only alter this type of ventilation slightly," he said.

At best, he added, they can change air quality only moderately over areas of very limited spatial extent.

The Metro-East area has experienced very few air pollution episodes in the last five years. Thornton said these have been "yellow stage ozone" episodes. None has been a "yellow stage total suspended particulate emission," "sulfur dioxide," or "nitrogen oxide" episode, he said.

The most severe stages in air pollution, "red" and "emergency," have never occurred in the area since the federal Environmental Protection Agency was founded in 1969. Thornton said.

The low frequency and lack of intensity of air pollution episodes attests to the fact that the local climatological characteristics encourage a fair degree of air quality most of the year in the Greater St. Louis region," Thornton said.

In a previous report, the spatial distributions as well as the intensity of air pollution sources in the area were discussed. This report focuses on the characteristics of weather and climate in the area, as well as the nature of the relationship and interaction of weather, climate and air pollution sources.

VISITS CHAPEL. Members of Brownie Troop 264 of Lake School are pictured in front of an antique hearse at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, where they visited last week.

Catholic award to Scout Kusmierczak

The Most Reverend Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas of Springfield presented Ad Altare Dei (toward the Altar of God) Awards to 57 Catholic Boy Scouts of the Springfield Diocese in ceremonies held in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Sunday, April 27.

The annual award presentation was planned to coincide with the annual Lincoln Pilgrimage, a march made by Scouts from Lincoln's tomb to the State Capitol, Scouts from throughout the state participated in the Pilgrimage.

The Ad Altare Dei Award is presented to First Class Scouts who complete eight steps of study and projects relating to scouting and the Catholic faith. They are guided through the steps by their Scoutmasters and counselors.

The Ad Altare Dei Award is the highest scouting award that may be earned by Catholic Boy Scouts.

The Scouting Charter states: "No member can grow into the best kind of citizen without recognizing his obligation to God."

The Ad Altare Dei Program helps Catholic scouts to advance spiritually in scouting and to live fully the Scout Oath and Law.

Steve Kusmierczak, 13-year-old son of Steve and Ann Kusmierczak, resides in Sacred Heart Parish. Steve is a 7th grade student at Sacred Heart-St. Joseph's School and serves as an altar boy at both Sacred Heart and St. Joseph's parishes. In addition to scouting, Steve enjoys and plays soccer.

Steve has been a scout since February 1979. He is a Star Scout, working on his Life Scout requirements and is senior patrol leader of Troop 7, St. Joseph's Church.

Brother Robert Manzer, MSF, is Scoutmaster of Troop 7 and Father Victor Chateauvert, MSF serves as counselor.

Steve was also elected as Troop Candidate for Order of the Arrow Award. On March 17, the Cahokia Mound Council's Catholic Committee on Scouting approved Steve for the Ad Altare Dei Award.

STEVE KUSMIERCZAK

Scouts have one year in which to fulfill the requirements necessary to earn this award, but Steve fulfilled his requirements in five months.

He was the only Scout in the council and district to receive the Ad Altare Dei Award in 1980, a first in three years.

Steve Kusmierczak well represents his Troop and the parishes of St. Joseph's and Sacred Heart. His faith has shown that the Ad Altare Dei Program does help the scout to live fully the Scout Oath and Law. Scout officials said.

Consider bill to expand school bus transportation

The Illinois General Assembly is considering legislation that would shift millions of tax dollars from public schools to private and parochial schools, according to the Illinois Association of School Boards.

Senate Bill 1812 would require public school districts to provide bus service for students to any school located no more than 10 miles outside district boundaries. IASB estimates the bill would cost an average of $243 for each eligible student and has recommended it not be enacted into law for a number of reasons.

IASB noted that most public school districts now provide student transportation inside district boundaries. The average school district in Illinois covers an area of 56 square miles. Extending bus service to 10 miles outside the district means busing over an average area of 756 square miles.

IASB recently surveyed 550 public school districts for estimates of the number of pupils that would have to be transported, as well as the cost of buying and operating school buses. The results show that the 550 districts would expect to transport an additional 47,000 students at an annual cost of $21 million, a spokesman said.

Public schools already provide free bus service for 43,000 non-public school students who reside near existing bus routes. The proposed law would require such service for every pupil who attends a school located more than one and one-half miles from home and within 10 miles outside district boundaries.

Our survey represents only about 54 percent of the public school districts in the state," said Harold P. Seamon, IASB executive director. "If we make allowances for the other 456 districts not surveyed, plus the additional busing students who attend private schools in the districts where they live, the total estimate would run closer to $40 million. This bears out figures produced last year

Comedy to be presented at St. Mary's during May

William Sugg, assisted by Paula Ballev, is the director for Mississippi Valley Community Theatre's first comedy production, "Everybody Loves Opal," which will be performed in St. Mary's School cafeteria on May 9, 10, 16, 17, 23, 24, 30, 31 beginning at 8:15 p.m. each night.

He recently appeared with his children, April and John, in East Bank Players productions of "Pure as the Driven Snow," and "The Whole Town's Talking," at Elliot's Three Mile House, in Edwardsville. Paula also performed in "Dracula Baby," and "The Whole Town's Talking."

The cast centers around an eccentric lady, Opal, who inhabits the city dump with her cat and three cost artists who secretly plot her demise to collect a large insurance claim. Ruth Bradley, who has appeared in East Bank Players "King and I," "MASH," and "Whole Town's Talking," will play the part of Opal. The cast also includes Shelley Fruth, who plays Shelley Fruth, Lee Cox as Bradford Winter, Stanley Coleman as Solomon Boza, and Jerry Pace, who will make his stage debut.

The group plans to begin auditioning and rehearsing their next show soon after this show closes.

In addition to actors, the group needs directors, stage managers, set designers and builders, publicity writers, typists, ticket takers, make-up crews, seamstresses and many more.

Tickets for "Everybody Loves Opal" are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 and senior citizens. They can be purchased at the door, or from the following: Bill Sugg, 877-6169, Ruth Bradley, 877-5605, Paula de Richard Bailey, 876-4108, Shelley Fruth, 656-1621 or any other member of the cast, it was announced.

Bi-State board elects

The Board of Commissioners of the Bi-State Development Agency elected James S. Nations as chairman of the board at its meeting.

Nations, an Illinois businessman from Fairview Heights, will serve as acting chairman until July 1, filling the post vacated by Gerald Rimmel, Michael Aubuchon, St. Louis, joined the commission as Rimmel's replacement.

Other officers elected were: Dempster K. Holland, Webster Groves, vice chairman; Carl E. Mathias, Granite City, secretary; and Francis Guelker, St. Louis, treasurer.

The Board of Commissioners of the Bi-State Development Agency is composed of ten individuals, appointed by the governors of Missouri and Illinois, to serve overlapping five year terms. Officers are elected to one year terms and all commissioners serve without compensation.

Seamon said school boards across the state are urging legislators to defeat the bill and suggested that all parents and taxpayers should also make their views known.

15 SIUE students are honored

Fifteen students who have shown creativity, reliability and initiative in extra-curricular activities have been selected for the Student Activities Honor Society at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Mary Louise Brown, student activities coordinator.

Student Lawrence Hampton of East St. Louis was also selected to receive the Franzanna Joyner Memorial Award, which honors students who have achieved excellence in academics and extra-curricular activities.

"P" mint mark out of mothballs after 35 years

New coins have 'new' mint mark

By Pat Foley of the Press-Record

If you happen to be a numismatist—coin collector—and you check the change in your pockets religiously, you might have already noticed something strange appearing in the coinage being minted by the government.

No, not the Susan B. Anthony dollar coin, but a "new" mint mark being used.

For the novice coin collector or those not familiar with coins and their histories, the 1980 coins in question probably look like other 1980 coins in circulation since the beginning of the year, but to an established collector who keeps up with oddities or unusual minting practices the slight difference should be readily recognized.

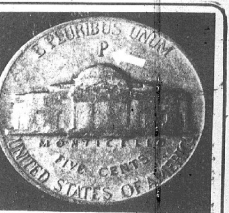

The mint mark on the new quarter appears on the obverse or "heads" side of the coin (left photo) at the lower right behind, George Washington's neck. On the new dime the mark is also on the obverse, but near the date.

Mint marks are used to designate where the coin was struck. The mint mark in question is a "P" found on some of the new coinage now in circulation.

The "P" mint mark, designating Philadelphia as the coin's origin, is one that is rarely used. In fact, the last and only time it was used on any coin struck at that mint was on nickels minted from 1942-45.

These nickels are commonly known as "war nickels" since they were minted during World War II. The nickel used in the coins was a critical war material so the composition of the wartime five-cent pieces was changed to an alloy of 56 percent copper, 35 percent silver and nine percent manganese, completely eliminating nickel from the coins. It was later restored to the coins in 1946.

A large "P" mint mark was placed on the reverse or "tails" side of the coin (right photo) above the dome of Monticello. Post-war nickels have had their mint marks to the right of the historic home of Thomas Jefferson—whose image appears on the obverse—and more recently on the obverse near the date.

The use of the "P" mint mark is the first time since World War II it has been used.

To keep looking through your change and you will probably begin to notice these "P" coins popping up. These very well could become somewhat of a collector's item if the treasury department would decide to again discontinue the use of the rare mint mark.

Spending to fight pollution has tripled

Illinois has tripled its spending to combat pollution since the Environmental Protection Act went into effect 10 years ago, according to a report by the state's Pollution Control Board.

Spending to abate water pollution throughout the state remains the Environmental Protection Agency's top commitment. In Fiscal Year 1979, a full one-third of the agency's budget ($5.7 million) was earmarked for safeguarding our water. Air pollution was next with $3.6 million, followed by administrative spending ($2.9 million) and laboratory services and land pollution control ($1.5 million each). Another $1.4 million was spent for public water supplies administration and an additional $400,000 for Noise Pollution Control.

The $750 million Anti-Pollution Bond issue of 1970—key to the water pollution battle—is upgrading local sewage treatment facilities throughout the state. At the end of fiscal year 1979 there were 326 projects in the planning grant stage, 41 projects in design, and 283 projects advanced to the construction stage.

Of the original $750 million, approximately $136 million will remain unobligated by the end of Fiscal Year 1980.

The Pollution Control Board, the enforcement arm of the environmental effort, has had a caseload of more than 3,600 regulatory actions since 1971. Petitions for variances lead the list.

Safety tips for cyclists

By PACKY E. RUSH Motorcycle Safety Coordinator

Illinois Department of Transportation

The best motorcycle safety tip that anyone will ever give you is to always wear a helmet. I've taken this opportunity to correct some of the most common helmet misconceptions.

Doesn't a helmet impair vision?

According to the Motorcycle Safety Foundation in order to be certified, helmets must provide a minimum peripheral (side) vision of 120 degrees. A normal person's peripheral vision when standing still is about 110 to 115 degrees. Once the cyclist starts riding, his area of vision decreases.

Increased speed, not a helmet, causes this tunneling effect. The effect occurs with all moving vehicles. The faster the speed, the narrower the tunnel and the less you see.

Doesn't a helmet reduce hearing?

A helmet does provide a screening effect, but it screens all sounds to the same degree. Thus, noises that the cyclist doesn't need to hear, such as wind blast, are screened along with other sounds. The cyclist wearing a helmet hears all critical sounds at the same relative strength as the rider without protection, except at higher speeds.

Then the rider with a helmet actually hears better! At highway speeds wind noise becomes a critical factor in the cyclist's hearing. Because a helmet acts as a windscreen, the helmeted cyclist actually hears better at high speeds than the bareheaded rider.

Don't helmets cause neck injuries?

A common argument is that the added weight of a helmet contributes to whiplash injuries; however, whiplash injuries don't happen to cyclists. If a cyclist is hit, the entire body is free to move; but when a car is hit only the driver's head and neck move violently over the back of the front seat. This snapping action is what causes whiplash. Whiplash injuries are peculiar to car accidents. A helmet does add extra weight, but only for a day or two; then the neck muscles adjust and you don't feel any "weight problem."

The chances of taking a direct blow on the neck during a fall are pretty slim, but the chances that you'll hit your head are more than fifty percent. Most neck injuries occur when the rider's head is bounced on the pavement, or hits a guardrail or cracks somebody's windshield. If the rider isn't wearing a helmet, a neck injury is the least of his problems. Since your head sits on your neck, if a helmet absorbs the impact that would be taken by your head, it also absorbs the impact that would be taken by your neck.

What should I look for when purchasing a helmet?

There are many types and styles of helmets available, and prices vary widely. Whatever style you choose, you should wear a helmet that offers the most protection which may not be the best looking or even the most expensive.

You should wear a helmet that bears either the American National Standards Institute label or the Snell Memorial Foundation label inside.

GC man is robbed

A woman armed with what appeared to be a .38 caliber revolver robbed Felix Lesh, 2282 Iowa St., of about $5 in the 1300 block of 19th Street at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Lesh told police he was walking on 19th Street when a car pulled up to the curb and a woman got out and approached him.

He said the woman asked him to give her "a couple of bucks" to buy gasoline.

Lesh said he refused and the woman pulled a gun and demanded all of his money. He said he gave her $4 or $5.

At that point a man alighted from the car and called to the woman, "Let's get out of here."

Both got in the car and they drove north on Edison Avenue, he reported.

10 youth at leaders meet

Ten area youth attended the 1980 4-H Junior Leader weekend representing Madison County. Those participating in the event learned skills that will help them become better 4-H Junior Leaders.

A Junior Leader is a helper from within the ranks of the 4-H clubs that is given extra responsibility in the operation of the local club. Some Junior Leaders work with committees to see that goals are reached, while others work as assistant leaders to organize programs or to coordinate a special event.

The Madison County group was made up of nine delegates and one teen leader.

This year's teen leader was Jean Lindsay of the Troy Senior Merry-makers 4-H Club. She was one of eight teen leaders from seven counties. Teen leaders were in charge of planning, the programming, educational and recreational events of the weekend, as well as, carrying the load during the conference. Most have attended the conference in the past.

The delegates were: Paula Meyer and Karla Meyer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Udell Meyer. Both are members of the Quercus Happy Go Lucky 4-H Club. Wayne and Paula Wieseman, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wieseman. Laura Elfrink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Elfrink. All three are members of the Liberty Live 4-H Club.

Mary Beth Shoemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shoemaker. Mary Hackman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hackman. Both are members of the Banner 4-H Club.

Janice Svoboda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Svoboda of rural Edwardsville. Janice is a member of the Liberty Belles 4-H Club. Kim Heien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Heien of Collinsville. She is a member of the Collinsville Colonettes 4-H Club.

(d) The contractor shall provide a site that will be suitable for the proper operation of a sanitary landfill, and will provide said site in compliance with conditions, regulations and requirements of the State of Illinois Department of Health and State Environmental Protection Agency, the regulations of the Illinois Pollution Control Board and the Environmental Protection Agency.

(g) Contractor shall furnish, maintain, insure and supply all necessary equipment, and shall carry on their own and be responsible for the hiring, supervision and paying of all necessary personnel to carry out the provisions of this agreement.

(h) Green testified he asked Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, then a police commissioner in Madison, for a $300,000 loan, since Sasyk, George Plof and Sasyk had worked together in the development of Fairway Estates and had a good relationship.

"Mr. Sasyk was going to loan me $300,000," Green testified, but subsequently, about Nov. 1, 1969, "Mr. Degrand called me and told me the $300,000 loan was turned down. I want to know why. He told me to come up for a meeting," Green added.

He said that when he arrived at the meeting, Degrand and Piasa President Henry Wulmer were there. Wulmer was "indifferent. A little bit cold. Aloof," Green recalled. He said Wulmer did not even shake his hand, which he felt was unusual since they had a good business relationship for 10 years and in the past had always acted "like he thought a lot of me," Green said.

Green wanted to know why the Sasyk loan was turned down and he said, "Degrand," Green told the jury. He said Wulmer meant the FBI or provisions of this agreement.

(h) The contractor, while operating the City disposal area, shall at its own expense maintain all roads necessary to permit use of the sanitary landfill site by citizens and residents of the City of Granite City.

(i) The contractor shall at all times during the term of this contract, at its own expense, maintain and keep in force public liability insurance, with limits of $100,000 to $300,000 for bodily injury, and $300,000 for property damage, and Workmen's Compensation Insurance.

And shall, when required by the City, furnish certificates of insurance evidencing the same; said policies of public liability shall insure the City of Granite City, as well as the contractor, for the limits indicated and shall furnish to the City a satisfactory insurance certificate showing the amounts of said coverage and the City, its elected officials, agents and employees as co-insureds.

(k) The contractor further agrees to provide service to all public schools, and public housing authority, at no additional charge, for the disposal of covered containers will be furnished to these institutions where it is practical and where such containers would improve the public health conditions involved.

(l) The contractor shall furnish a performance bond from a bonding company satisfactory to the City in an amount sufficient to cover the total contract price for the three years of the contract life.

SECTION II
Payment of money provided in Section I hereof shall be made by the City to the contractor during each year in 12 equal installments, the first of such installments being due 30 days after July 1, 1977.

SECTION III
The collection of refuse called for hereunder shall be limited to two containers as here specified for each business unit within the corporate limits of the City of Granite City as of the date of this agreement; provided, however, that with respect to living units there shall be no limit on the number of containers. FSLIC (Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp.) and Degrand.

"I was a little irritated," Green recalled, saying Piasa had pledged to back him in a Lake development, a theater for Goodlight Walk and five apartment buildings and Green sank most of his available cash into beginning those projects. "I had $450,000 tied up in those three," he testified.

Degrad suggested that Piasa approve the loan and, Green recalled Wulmer saying to Degrand, "Why do you worry about Jim Green so much," and, "What's going on between you two guys."

Later, after the meeting, Degrand located Green in another part of the building and told him, "Jim, the old man is saying that you're paying me off," Green recalled.

Green denied that he had made any payoffs or given any gifts to Degrand. Degrand testified Friday, agreeing that he had never accepted anything from Green or any other borrower, except, "maybe a bottle" of liquor at Christmas.

Degrad, who is now the business manager for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, detailed the growth of Piasa from 1965 to 1969 from having assets of $4.5 million to having assets over $100 million when he left.

He said Piasa always used fair and commonly accepted practices and received excellent audit reports and ratings. Degrand and Wulmer's son, Bert, operated the Equity Insurance Agency in Piasa's building, selling insurance to some of the borrowers who made purchases with money from Piasa. He called the practice of loan officers having interest in affiliated insurance firms "common practice in the industry," at that time.

Carr asked Degrand, "Did you ever do anything to lead Jim Green down a primrose path," and Degrand responded, "No sir."

He agreed that Green, Wulmer and himself developed "a very close, friendly, personal relationship. A relationship of trust and respect," during the 10 years in which they did business together.

Detailed financial questions followed in an attempt to determine whether Piasa had loaned money to Green and it was legally able to do.

Federal regulations prohibit savings institutions from loaning more than the total net worth of the institution, or 10 percent of its total savings, whichever is smaller, to any one individual or firm.

William Cox, attorney for the Alton Telegraph, said in his opening remarks last week that he plans to prove that the two officials of the Madison County Sheriff's Department, who are now deceased. They were former Captain Demos Nicholas and former Sheriff Barney Fraundorf, Cox told the jury.

Cox contended the letter from the Telegraph reporters had nothing to do with Green's financial collapse, was "ignored entirely" and actually was written by the reporters at the request of federal investigators studying organized crime in the St. Louis area.

He contended the information came from the two officials of the Madison County Sheriff's Department, who are now deceased. They were former Captain Demos Nicholas and former Sheriff Barney Fraundorf, Cox told the jury.

Angry husband is being sought

Divorce proceedings are never easy, but Granite City police are searching for one man who had a more difficult time than normal adjusting to the situation.

Officers were called to the law office of attorney Charles W. Angles, 1924 Edison Ave., last week on a report of a disturbance and were told that a man and his wife fought in the attorney's office.

Jungles said he was discussing a divorce with the couple and left the room while they discussed terms. The woman alleged her husband argued with her, pulled her hair and threw her to the floor and punched her right cheek with a fist. He then left the office.

Says interest system deters home buying

The interest rate for home mortgages insured by the FHA or the VA should be determined by supply and demand, not by a political appointee in Washington, according to Roy Fair, president of the 30,000-member Illinois Association of Realtors.

Currently the interest rate for home loans insured by FHA is determined by the secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Similarly, VA-insured loans have their interest rates set by the director of the Veterans Administration.

The government's standard explanation for this arrangement is that it supposedly fights inflation. In practice, Fair said, it is more effective in fighting the ability of home buyers to finance their property transactions.

The present system allows no flexibility or choice for prospective buyers and sellers, Fair said. When the maximum interest rate for FHA and VA-insured loans is below the real interest rate being charged for loans not insured by the FHA or VA, lenders must charge a high number of discount points on each loan to keep from losing money on the loan, he said. Since federal regulations prevent the lender from charging the home buyer more than one discount point (that is, one percent of the amount of the loan, payable to the lender at the time the loan is made), any charge over one point is charged to the seller. The seller in turn adds that cost to the price of the house. The buyer must then pay that amount to the seller at the time of the sale, in addition to making the downpayment on the property, Fair explained.

The effect is to require the buyer to make a heavy outlay of cash, often much more than the buyer has available or can afford. The buyers whom FHA and VA are supposed to benefit are typically those who do not have the kind of cash reserve necessary to meet such a heavy "front-end" expense for obtaining a mortgage. Furthermore, there is no way, under the current system, of allowing the seller, the buyer and the lender to negotiate a compromise on financing, Fair said.

This can all be changed and improved very easily, according to Fair. By allowing the interest rate to "float," that is, to let the cost of the money for the mortgage be determined by the supply of money and the demand for money — and by removing the restrictions on who must pay what fees in the transaction, more people would be financially capable of buying and selling homes with FHA- and VA-insured mortgages. It is anticipated that at the very minimum, there would be a five percent increase in home purchases made with FHA- and VA-insured loans if these changes were made, Fair said.

There would be no added cost of operation by making these improvements. It would not be an expense for the government. It would not be an expense for the lenders, he added.

It would result in a reduced financial burden for a large number of home buyers, as it would allow greater flexibility in structuring the terms of a mortgage to fit the needs and abilities of the borrower. Fair said the ultimate result would be to allow a larger number of people to fulfill one of the great American dreams, that of owning a home.

Summer youth programs to hire million youth

Assistant Secretary of Labor Ernest G. Green has announced that about one million economically disadvantaged youth, 14 through 21, will be hired this summer under the department's $745 million Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP).

Green made the announcement in connection with the 15th anniversary of the summer youth jobs program which was launched in 1965.

The assistant secretary said that the $745 million is being apportioned among 473 state and local governments serving as prime sponsors, under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). The funds are expected to provide youth with 10-week summer jobs in community service agencies at the minimum wage of $3.10 an hour.

In making the announcement, Green said prime sponsors had received estimates of funds for their summer programs as early as December to give them plenty of time to plan extensive and enriched summer job programs in their communities.

The assistant secretary said a review of the nation's 1979 summer youth jobs program found "an overwhelming majority of worksites provided meaningful, supervised productive work experience."

He noted that intensive monitoring of the program was part of an effort by the department and local prime sponsors to improve the summer program, an effort which has produced substantial and documented results.

Reading, writing priority topics

The Minimal Competency Testing Committee of Madison School District informed the Madison School Board in its meeting Thursday night that the committee has made a thorough needs assessment to identify areas of greatest importance for student competency.

The committee, made up of board members, administrators, teachers, non-certified personnel, parents and students, agreed that priority should be given the subjects of reading, writing and computing.

In the order of their priority, competence areas include reading, writing, listening, computing, speaking, media and communications, citizenship, world of work, family health and safety and consumerism, the committee reported.

It said a study has begun of a percent of accuracy needed to achieve minimal competence in identified areas and that this will continue through the 1980-81 school year.

"Using this guideline, the committee feels that all of these students needing help can be identified, remediated and brought into compliance with those minimal standards that will be set," the report added.

The committee also informed the board, "The successful work of the committee brings the district to a very advantageous point awaiting the decision of Dr. Joseph Cronin, state superintendent, the Illinois State School Board and ultimately the Illinois state legislature regarding minimal competency testing in Illinois. This decision will come July 1, 1980."

The school board, acting on a letter from Board Attorney John Papa, dismissed petitions that had been filed by Robert Mays as attorney for Gary Novich in an effort to keep Sam Dymas' name off the school election ballot last month.

Papa told the board that a stipulation for dismissal of the case has been filed by Novich's attorney.

Dymas, seeking re-election, filed two sets of petitions, which was challenged by Novich.

The board also concurred in a letter from the Illinois Department of Labor asking that salaries paid by the district follow the prevailing wage schedules.

School Superintendent John Palchiff informed the members that the district's request for three manpower employees will not be allowed.

Summer school will begin June 3, following a workshop for teachers on June 2, the board agreed. The school will operate four weeks to June 30 for youngsters needing help in reading and arithmetic.

The summer school sessions will be limited to students from kindergarten through third grade and will be held in the Harris and Blair schools.

Board members also concurred in plans for the annual Bicycle Rodeo which will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on May 17 for all district students on the playgrounds at Harris school.

In other business, the board accepted the residuation of Mrs. Mary Mick, an elementary teacher, and granted the Friendship Baptist Church permission to use the Dunbar school for church services while a new church building is being built.

The board also discussed the responsibility for payment of a $9,253 power bill at the new middle school, following receipt by the district of a disconnection notice. Power company officials said that ample time will be given for the district to meet the payment.

School Supt. John Palchiff said that an agreement with contractors for construction of the new school called for payment of power bills by the contractor and sub-contractors, and that the last bill was to have been paid by one of the firms. Palchiff said a solution is being worked out and the bill will be paid.

WEAPONS CHARGE

James Horton, 29, of 2516 Northbridge Drive, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon at 12:20 a.m. Sunday after police alleged finding a loaded .38 caliber revolver in a taxicab in which Horton was riding.

Police said they had been called to a tavern on a report Horton had displayed a gun, but found he had left in a cab when they arrived. Police checked the cab office, located the cab at 24th Street and Washington Avenue, and stopped it. Officers said Horton was in the cab and the gun was found under the seat.

House bill would aid areas having large labor surplus

The Illinois House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill sponsored by Rep. Wyvetter H. Young for loans and grants to encourage industrial development where a critical labor surplus exists. House Bill 821 applies to an industrial park, site or structure developed, constructed or acquired in whole or part with funds from the Illinois Industrial Development Authority, except for a project competing with a privately owned or public utility unless the Illinois Commerce Commission determines an increase in such service is needed.

Costs which could be provided under the Young proposal include construction, lands and improvements; rights, easements and franchises acquired as necessary for such construction; average financing charges and interest costs prior to and during construction; engineering and legal expense; plans, specifications, surveys, estimates of costs and other expenditures necessary to determining the feasibility of a project and other expenses necessary to financing of it.

Costs allowable also may apply to machinery and equipment costs and its installation, but not its maintenance.

"Areas of critical labor surplus" as defined by

HB821 means "any reasonably defined area or areas encompassing any municipality or municipalities, portion of a county or group of counties, or region of the state" with an average of not less than 4.5 percent of the available labor force unemployed for not less than a year prior to this determination, or which the foreseeable future may develop into such an area.

Such certification would be made by the state Business and Community Affairs Department, or determined by the federal government because it has been designated as such an area and eligible for assistance from federal funds.

SIUE hosting Jazz 'greats'

Musicians, students of music and jazz enthusiasts will have the chance to rub elbows with some of the country's jazz greats at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville May 15.

Teddy Wilson and Earl "Fatha" Hines, who will be participating in the University's Third Annual Jazz Festival during that week, will be leading a workshop in the Communications Building theater at 10:30 a.m. The workshop is free.

The artists will discuss their experiences in the world of jazz during the past 50 years and how they developed their own particular styles of music. Members of the audience will have the chance to talk with the musicians and learn what is happening in the professional music field.

"The audience will gain insights that are impossible to obtain watching musicians perform," David Huntley, director of the Office of Cultural Arts and University Museum said.

During the afternoon, Charles Suber, publisher of Downbeat Magazine, will give two lectures. The first lecture, scheduled for 3 p.m., will focus on careers in music, and the second lecture, at 4 p.m., will examine the values of jazz education.

Both lectures will be presented in Lovejoy Library auditorium. Wilson and Hines will be the featured attraction at an SIUE Foundation benefit scheduled at Powell Symphony Hall in St. Louis May 14.

Benefit tickets for this concert are $25 for grand tier seats, $35 for dress circle seats, and $50 for grand tier boxes. Other seating ranges from $6 to $12. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Tickets for the Hines and Wilson benefit may be purchased at Street Side Record Stores, Stix and Famous-Bar stores, St. Louis University and SIUE. Proceeds from the concert will go toward scholarships, student loans, distinguished teaching awards and other projects aimed at improving the quality of education at the university.

Other jazz groups making the campus scene during the week of May 12 include: Art Blakey and the Jazz Messengers, the Ahmad Jamal Trio, and the Betty Carter Trio, as well as numerous local groups.

The Ahmad Jamal Trio is scheduled in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center at 8 p.m. Monday, May 12. Tickets are $2.50 for SIUE students with identification and $7.50 for others. "Constellation" will be the opening band.

Tuesday, May 13, it's local talent on the mall from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Wednesday, May 14, the Gem Septet will perform free at the University's Faculty Club at noon. The Wilson and Hines benefit is scheduled that evening at Powell Hall.

Thursday, May 15, local talent will perform in the University Center's Goshen Lounge from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Workshops are scheduled both morning and afternoon. The Betty Carter Trio and Art Blakey and the Jazz Messengers will perform in concert in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center at 8:15 p.m.

Admission to this event is $4 for SIUE students and $6 for non-students.

Bill would aid businesses

A pilot program proposed by Rep. Michael Slape (D-Pocahontas) to aid small businesses to cope with a multitude of forms and inspections has been approved by the House Rules Committee as an emergency measure to be considered during the current session of the legislature.

The "Small Business Coordinating Act" introduced as House Bill 2594 by Slape would be started Jan. 15 next year as a pilot project for new grocery operations through the state's Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, and if found feasible, later would be extended to other small businesses.

Basis of the new program would be a "One-stop Business License Center" where operators of the proposed new business could submit a master application to the department requesting issuance of all necessary permits. The application form would contain all information necessary for various state agencies to issue a permit.

The Department of Commerce and Community Affairs then would send a copy of the form to each state agency with potential jurisdiction over the proposed business. Each agency would be required to respond within a specified period of time stating that the application had been approved, approved with conditions or disapproved.

HB2594 sets out that the new act shall not eliminate local health or safety inspections or permits required by local government, but for state-required inspections requires the department with consolidating them as much as possible, and to be performed by one inspector at a time.

"Small business" is defined in the bill as "a corporation, partnership, sole proprietorship or other legal entity formed for the purpose of making a profit, which is not owned or operated by any other business and which has 50 or fewer employees."

"Small businesses have unique needs and problems that must be addressed in order to assure a healthy economy in the state," Slape explains.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH LUCAS, who were married April 19 in a candlelight ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The bride is the former Miss Paula Kay Werths, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Werths, 2509 Hodges Ave.

Sacred Heart scene of Lucas-Werths nuptials

Miss Paula Kay Werths became the bride of Keith Joseph Lucas in a candlelight ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church April 19.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Werths, 2509 Hodges Ave. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Lucas, 161 Arlington Drive.

Arrangements of snapdragons, yellow and white daisies and greenery adorned the altar as Father James Shortall performed the double ring ceremony.

Organist Lisa Groothuis accompanied Brian Chastain who sang, "The Wedding Song," "Sunrise, Sunset," "One Hand, One Heart," "Sometimes," "Ave Maria" and the Lord's Prayer.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father. Her Empire style gown of embroidered white eyelet featured a stand-up collar with lace trim and a tucked bodice with a sheer rounded yoke trimmed in a double ruffle of matching lace.

The gathered bishop sleeves ended in long, belted eyelet cuffs and the full, two-tiered skirt fell into a chapel length train.

A double ring of embroidered white eyelet lace secured the shoulder length veil of bridal illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, daisies, snow crystals and greenery.

Mrs. Carla Griffin attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Laura Werths, a sister of the bride, Elizabeth Zeleka and Jan Wohlrich.

They wore identically styled gowns of embroidered yellow eyelet designed with round lace trimmed necklines. The full skirts ended in double rows of embroidered eyelet.

Matching yellow sashes tied in the back and full bows accented the waistline. Each attendant carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies, baby's breath, greenery and a yellow ribbon.

Sarah Werths, a cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a white eyelet gown and carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

The groom chose David Heth to serve as best man. Groomsmen included Jeff Larrner, Mark Spranklin and Condy Dixon.

Ushers were Richard Werths, a brother of the bride, and Tom Lucas, a brother of the groom. Paul Wallenberger was the ring bearer.

Candlelighters were Sheri Copenhaver and Peggy Moore.

Mrs. Werths, the mother of the bride, wore a pale pink accoutremented gown with a matching jacket.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. Lucas, selected a cream colored gown with a sheer yoke and a three-tiered skirt.

The bride's uncle, Gary Werths, hosted a rehearsal dinner in his St. Louis home. A reception was held at Englebert Hall in Madison.

The bride graduated from Granite City High School South in 1976 and from Eastern Illinois University in 1979 where she was a member of Delta Psi Kappa honorary society.

She received teacher's certifications in physical education and health.

Her husband is a 1975 graduate of North High School and a 1979 graduate of Washington University. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity.

He is presently a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army stationed at Fort Rucker in Enterprise, Ala. He is attending aviation school, military intelligence branch.

The newlyweds are now residing in Enterprise.

Next in priority—an East 23rd crossing separation

The good news outweighs the bad news regarding the Metro Area Rail Gateway Enterprise (MARGE) plan for consolidation of railroad yards in the Illinois portion of this metropolitan area.

But the negative aspects include motorists' potential inconvenience from greatly increased use of rail lines through the Quad-City area.

Major elements of the comprehensive proposal include eliminating dozens of small railroad yards, clearing the East St. Louis riverfront opposite the Gateway Arch, and beefing up Madison and East St. Louis area yards.

To cope with auto traffic delays associated with increased use of principal railroad tracks here, the planners propose to construct new grade separation structures. With 60 crossings here and a total of 250 in the territory that is being studied, the list of possible grade separations has been cut to 52, including nine here, and is destined to be trimmed further.

Now that the City of Granite City and State of Illinois have begun constructing a traffic overpass on the 19th Street crossing, the local list can be cut well below nine. But some relief will be essential, judging by the ambitious plans for high-volume rail freight shipments.

Highest priority for a new crossing after 19th Street appears to be deserved by the Illinois Route 162 crossing reached from East 23rd Street. There is much vehicle travel there, and already there are numerous crossing blockages by trains, particularly when there is traffic to and from work.

Taxes paid by workers, oil companies show contrast

Illinois AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education—Taxwise, you're in a pretty fast league. You pay a higher tax rate on your income than big oil firms do on theirs. Congratulations.

Here's approximately the rate workers pay at three earnings levels:

At $15,000 a year, 10 percent.
At $20,000 a year, 13½ percent.
At $25,000 a year, 20 percent.
By contrast, the following is what some of the big oil companies paid in 1977 (latest available figures) in effective U.S. taxes as a percentage of their worldwide income, also noted:

1. Exxon 7.4 percent on $7.7 billion.
2. Mobil 2.5 on $4.3 billion.
3. Texaco 6.3 on $1.6 billion.
4. Gulf 6.3 on $2.3 billion.
5. Atlantic Richfield 1.3 on $908 million.
6. Marathon 6.6 on $775 million.
7. Occidental 9 on $887 million.

Cable television ready for business

Southwestern Cable TV plans to open its Granite City office in the 1918 Delmar Avenue tomorrow and begin enlisting subscribers for pay cable television service. The office will be available here next month.

Mary Hildebrand, programming director for Southwestern Cable TV, Inc., announced Friday that sales crews will be active door-to-door in Granite City later this month, asking residents to consider subscribing to the cable service and to a movie offerings, Home Box Office and Tape II (which features only G and PG rated films).

Little chance of grant for new library annex

There is little likelihood that a federal grant can be obtained to build a library annex in the Nameoki area, although the project will be a part of the library's $500,000 budget of $500,000, officials reported today.

The new budget, up $200,000 over that of last year's budget, "The budget has been placed on first reading by the Library Board and is expected to be given final passage in its next meeting at 7:30 p.m. May 12."

Plans for the new library building are contingent upon securing a federal grant from the Economic Development Administration, according to Robert Slack, librarian.

David Nolan, administrative aide to Mayor Paul Schuler, said however that the EDA exists only in unpassed legislation that would create it. No money would be appropriated and there are no facilities even for filing an application at this time.

In view of President

Adding to the seriousness of the delays there is the fact that autos waiting for trains to pass often are backed up so far that they block the Edwardsville Road and East 23rd access to the Maryville Road extension.

That road extension theoretically solves part of the crossing area congestion, in that it would bypass the tracks by turning left onto Maryville Road. But it doesn't work as planned if the crossing is blocked for a long period, because all the lanes become filled.

Also likely to receive attention is the hazardous West Pontion Road railroad crossing, although the geography is such that an overpass might also have to cross nearby Nameoki Road, possibly destroying part of the commercial area. Assuming that the 19th Street project will also serve Niedringhaus Avenue, 20th Street and 22nd Street, the remaining crossings on the study list are Market and State Streets between Madison and North Venice, plus 25th Street, Pontion Road, and Maryville Road north of Route 203.

There will be some support for grade separation facilities at all of the locations mentioned. However, the 19th Street project has demonstrated how tough it is to line up adequate financing and approvals. With this in mind, the best bet seems to be to concentrate local and regional support on the East 23rd-Route 162 site and perhaps one or two other crossings. If the 19th Street crossing is obtained, the railway consolidation may be "livable" with from the standpoint of Quad-City area residents, shoppers and employees.

8. Union (Calif.) 8.1 on $350 million. More contrasts (still 1977 figures):

—17 corporations with combined earnings of $2.1 billion paid no federal income taxes.
—38 corporations with combined earnings of $3.7 billion paid less than 10 percent in taxes.

A handful of the major banks—now pulling in 20 percent plus on money they loan—paid only 7.1 percent on $2.5 billion in earnings.

AT&T earned $7 billion and paid at a tax rate of only eight percent.

—142 firms from the Fortune 500, with combined earnings of $89.8 billion, paid an effective tax rate of only 17.8 percent, while the rate paid by a family of four with income of $25,000 a year.

The statutory corporate rate is 48 percent.

Construction should begin this week to pour the concrete base for the cable TV tower which will be constructed in the parking lot of Vaughn's Pharmacy, 1830 Delmar Ave. A $21,000 building permit for the tower construction has been obtained from Granite City. The work is expected to be completed within three weeks, inside the steel, installation of a microwave set receiver unit and equipment.

Cables then will be attached and service should be available in Granite City by next month. Mrs. Hildebrand said.

Cycle victim in coma

Candace Evans, 19, of the Parkside Apartments, remains in a coma in an intensive care unit of Primus Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, where she was injured when she was suffering severe head injuries in a motorcycle accident April 27 on Route 162 at East 23rd Street.

Her mother, Mrs. Edith Nugent, who resides on Dawn Avenue, said her daughter uses her maiden name Evans, but some persons may know her by her former married name of Mrs. Candace Clark.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Robert Hood, 26, Mount Olive, which struck the back of the auto of Roger Frey, Highland, as the car slowed to turn into a driveway on Route 162 near East 23rd Street.

Hood suffered lesser injuries and was released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center after treatment.

Witnesses alleged the car ran into the street in front of two northbound cars, which were nearly side by side. The car in the outside lane nearly struck him and the auto in the inside lane then hit him as he continued to run into

2 held hostage, raped

Two young women walked into the Granite City Police Department at 4:30 a.m. Sunday and said they had been held hostage and raped repeatedly.

One victim fainted in the lobby of the police building and was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. After conferring with nurses at the hospital, the two victims related the following, police said.

They said they had gone to the Bastille Lounge in Madison where they met several friends. One man invited them to a party at his home and they accepted the invitation, believing several persons were going to the party.

When they arrived at a mobile home in the Mitchell area for the party, they discovered there was no party. The young man who

Housing meeting for Eagle Park

The possible reallocation of Community Development funds to allow more housing rehabilitation in Eagle Park Acres is to be discussed during a community meeting at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the Eagle Park Improvement Association Hall.

The Eagle Park Action Committee has called the meeting at the request of residents who were unable to obtain housing rehabilitation funds, but would like to make repairs to their homes.

With this in mind, the possibility of reallocating community development funds from other projects to the housing rehabilitation is the top item to be discussed at the meeting.

The meeting organizers also plan to talk about new home construction and fire protection. Decisions made by the residents and not by some elected or county official, Eddie Lee Salmond of the Eagle Park Action Committee, stated.

He urged all residents of Eagle Park Acres to attend Wednesday's meeting and make their feelings known.

JUDGE TO SPEAK

Circuit Judge Charles Chapman will speak to high school students enrolled in the gifted program at Madison High School on Tuesday, May 6, at 10 a.m. He is a former graduate of the school. He will speak on the "Motivation for Excellence." Marguerite Connole is director of the program.

Three young men were injured Sunday night in a motorcycle accident involving a car on the highway near the intersection of 23rd Street and the highway.

Robert L. Wallace, 29, of 2701 Johnson Road, was released on $300 cash bond at 1:30 p.m. Thursday on state complaints of criminal negligence to property, criminal damage to property and disorderly conduct.

It is alleged that Wallace refused to leave the home of Marguerite Foschiatti, 2207 Edison Ave. After she called police, he returned 50 minutes later and police again were called and ordered him to leave and stay away.

Fifteen minutes later, he allegedly returned, tore the telephone cord from the wall and attempted to strangle her. He arrived. One hour and 20 minutes later, police alleged seeing him leave the home and drive away.

He then was arrested and was taken to the Granite City Jail.

Y seeks support

The Tri-City Area YMCA has announced that it has initiated its 1980 Sustaining Membership Program.

In the past, the Tri-City Area YMCA has provided annual memberships to as many as 150 needy youth each year.

The Y's policy is to deny a membership because of lack of funds is largely due to this sustaining effort, an officer said.

Any area individual interested in donating to the Y may call Ed Mercer at the "Y", at 876-7200.

Boy, 9, is hit by car

David L. Hurry, 9, of 405 Kirkpatrick Homes, was seriously injured when he was struck by the auto of Mark Sauerwein, St. Louis, as he crossed Nameoki Road at East 23rd Street at 12:40 p.m. Sunday.

Witnesses alleged the boy ran into the street in front of two northbound cars, which were nearly side by side. The car in the outside lane nearly struck him and the auto in the inside lane then hit him as he continued to run into

Smith strike continues

Reports on the position of the A.O. Smith Corp. and Local 175 of the United Auto Workers Union are under study by federal mediators in the strike of 450 union employees at the Smith auto frames plant here.

The strike went into its 24th day today with no further contract talks. The union said it would not return to work after a hearing on a National Labor Relations Board petition that the union be restrained from picketing the company's plant.

Any further contract talks will be arranged by the U.S. Mediation Service which entered the dispute shortly before the strike began.

U.S. Judge Jim Kelly said position reports were filed by both sides after the U.S. District Court in Alton granted the union a hearing on a National Labor Relations Board petition that the union be restrained from picketing the company's plant.

At that time, the older victim attempted to run, but the man caught her and struck her with his fists, she said.

Shoot-out fatal to Granite Soccer Club

DON'T LOOK BACK. Granite City Soccer Club goalie Tony Pierce of GC South watches as a penalty shot by the Bavarian Soccer Club of Milwaukee sails past him in an overtime shoot-out in McGuire Cup Regional playoff action in Alton Sunday. GCSC lost the shoot-out 4-5 to the Bavarians.

(Press-Record photo by Ed Sater)

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record

ALTON — Andy Gasparovic said it was like shooting craps.

Tony Pierce felt like he was bowling for dollars, only he was the head pin.

But Bob Spellman was confident about the whole thing.

The Bavarian Soccer Club of Milwaukee, Wis. defeated the Granite City Soccer Club 4-3 Sunday in the first round regional game of the McGuire Cup Tournament.

The penalty-kick shoot out that decided the game left everyone talking.

Gasparovic, coach of the Granite City Club watched as the Bavarians boomed five shots past Pierce, Granite City's goalie. "You never know what to expect," he said later. "Any time you get into a penalty shoot situation it's like shooting craps. Sometimes you win, sometimes you don't."

"Here we go," Pierce said as he prepared to meet yet another of Milwaukee's kickers in the shoot-out.

"Just like Bowling for Dollars."

Granite City also sent five kickers to challenge the Wisconsin club's goalie Mike Bissermann. Four of the shots went sailing into the net. All but Jeff DeMott's, which trailed off to left of the goal mouth.

That was the difference in the game after 120 previous minutes of play.

Regulation play ended in a 3-3 tie. And after two scoreless overtime periods the tie remained.

The shoot-out was one last drastic step to find a winner.

"We were confident when the game went into the penalty kicks," Spellman, the Bavarian Club coach, said. "Last year we had three tie games decided that way and we won all three of them. We have some fine shooters who can stick it in the nets."

Gasparovic and the Granite City players, though, were left only with sour feeling after the shoot-out had ended.

"It's not the way you'd like to see a game end," Gasparovic said. "But you have to have a winner. You can't blame anyone for missing. DeMott's shot just went wide. Probably 99 times out of a hundred he'd make that shot. What else can you say that wouldn't sound like sour grapes?"

Maybe mention that before the shoot-out each team played the other to a stand-off.

Even as the 80-degree temperature began to drain both teams, neither Granite City nor the Bavarian team showed signs of letting up.

Even after Granite City scored about halfway through the second period, the Bavarian club came back.

About ten minutes after Granite's third goal, Milwaukee's Burt Drummier emerged from a crowd in front of the Granite City goal and sent a low shot past Pierce.

The Bavarians then held off Granite City's attempts to end the game in regulation time for the remainder of the second period despite the effects of the sun.

"Back in Milwaukee it's still forty degrees," Gasparovic said. "I've seen a lot of things happen here as he caught his breath during a break in the action late in the game."

The tying goal by Bavaria turned the tide in the game. Until then things seemed to be going Granite City's way.

Especially after two second-period goals had given Granite a 3-2 lead.

It was 1-1 when Granite City's Craig Kessler gathered up a loose ball in front of the Bavarian goal and chipped in a shot that just beat Bissermann.

A David Fernandez corner kick had sent the ball bouncing off a gang of players before Kessler picked it up.

Then about six minutes later Tim Dix was the benefactor of some fine ball handling by Fernandez, as the former took a perfect pass in front of the empty goal and put Granite City ahead 3-2.

Fernandez had dribbled the ball onto one Bavarian defender then beaten the Milwaukee goalie with the pass to Dix.

Bavaria had scored in the second period on a penalty kick from Clyde Ward.

In the first period, the teams traded goals. Bavaria scored first, about seven minutes after the start of the period, on Chris Glossan's header off a corner kick by Ward.

Granite City's Kessler tied the game with a shot from about 20 feet to the right of the goal, about five minutes later.

It came down, though, to the penalty kicks. And there Bavaria might have had something of a psychological advantage. Just at the end of the second overtime period, Glossan was given a red card and was ejected from the game.

"When he got thrown out," Spellman said, "I gave us all a kind of shot in the arm, something to make up for."

The Bavarian Club did that, making five straight penalty kicks, while Granite City made its first, missed the second, then scored its last three.

"We had plenty of opportunities before that to end the game," Gasparovic said.

"Their last goal should have never been scored. We may have taken these guys to lightly after winning last week in Chicago."

North bats whip Hazelwood

Sports

By BOB REHG

HAZELWOOD

Hazelwood West coach Frank Burkart didn't feel like talking to reporters about Granite North's 14-2 thumping Saturday of his Wildcats. Who could blame him? It wasn't a very memorable game for Hazelwood.

The Wildcats had been forced to use a cast of reserves for the contest because Missouri has a rule limiting how many innings a high school varsity member can play during a season. Earlier this year Hazelwood's varsity team played in a J-V game, so to avoid violating the "innings rule," Burkart had to sit out most of his starting players Saturday.

Only centerfielder Dan Beckman was a regular. The rest of West's team Saturday were J-V members, except for the pitchers.

And who would want to talk about a front-line pitching staff that gave up 13 walks and 14 runs during a game? Certainly not Burkart.

North coach Bob Stegemeier, on the other hand, was quite willing to talk about the game.

"I always have time to talk after I win," he said with a fresh chew of tobacco safely tucked away in his right cheek.

Stegemeier wanted to talk about how it didn't matter to him whether his team had just beaten a bunch of subs. It was still a win over a club that had started the day with a 13-1 record, he said.

"We played our regulars because we came to play a variety game. I didn't ask for any favors," Stegemeier said of Burkart's use of J-V players.

Stegemeier wanted to talk about Steeler pitcher Steve Doty, who worked all seven innings while giving up just three hits and two unearned runs.

"Doty pitched a real good game. He kept the ball moving and changed speeds well, which he hasn't been doing," the coach said. "He pitched a much smarter game today."

Stegemeier also had something to say about the Hazelwood diamond, which helped both teams commit six errors each.

"It's not your ideal field. It's hard as a rock," Stegemeier said grinning. As for the game itself, well it was probably an omen for things to come when the umpires showed up late.

Neither team

distinguished itself in the field and North was leading 5-2 before an earned run finally crossed the plate.

Hazelwood broke on top thanks to a questionable call by one of the tardy umpires. With a runner on third, West's Tim Hofes hit a short pop fly to right field. Steeler right fielder Joe Failoni appeared to make a good running catch while spinning to avoid a collision with centerfielder Rob Chapman.

The catch was for naught, however, when the first base umpire ruled Failoni had dropped the ball allowing a run to score to the dismay of the Stealers and Stegemeier.

The coach beefed about the call to no avail.

"That makes me about 0 for 40 in arguments this year," Stegemeier said later.

The Stealers tied the score at the bottom of the 1st on a single by leftfielder Rick Rier.

The Wildcats scored their last-run in the second inning when with two out Doty drew wildly past first base trying to pick off Roger Fridmore. The errant throw allowed Fridmore to see all the way around the bases to score.

West starting pitcher Tony Petrosi returned the favor in the 4th when he threw wildly while trying to pick off Doty, allowing Bob Ford to score to tie the game.

Petrosi proved to be his own worst enemy in the fifth as two walks two wild pit-

Salukis hold on to sweep SIU-E Cougars

CARBONDALE — Granite City supplied a winning pitcher and a losing pitcher here Sunday as SIU-Carbondale swept a doubleheader here Sunday from sister school SIU-Edwardsville.

SIU-C defeated Granite City South grad John Lakin 10-3 in the first game of the twin-bill. In the second game, Carbondale's Paul Evans, another South grad, was the winner in the Salukis' 6-5 win.

Carbondale jumped on Lakin for four runs in the first inning in the first game. SIU-E narrowed it to 4-1 in the second, but found itself trailing 5-1 after three. The Cougars made it 5-3 in the fifth, but the Salukis scored once in the fifth and four times in the sixth off reliever Fernando Aguirre to ice the game away.

Jerry Halstead was the winning pitcher for Carbondale.

In the second game, the Salukis appeared headed for an easy sweep before the Cougars erupted for four runs in the sixth and one in the seventh. Evans, who pitched a no-hitter at SIU-E last season, had a 6-0 lead going into the sixth inning. But SIU-E came back to make it close.

Another Granite Cityan, freshman Tom Greco from GC North, started the second game at second base and went two-for-three at the plate. In that game, both SIU-C and SIU-E had nine hits.

Lakin, who had won his last two starts, saw his record dip to 2-4 on the season. With the win in the second game, Evans ran his record to 3-2.

SIU-Edwardsville's record with the two losses drops to 21-27 on the season, while SIU-Carbondale stands at 24-12.

Burton hurls shutout, North downs South

By TOM SCHOCKER
For the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — There were no sparks of lightning nor were there any claps of thunder. Nevertheless, the fourth and final season meeting between Granite City North and Granite City South still held the action packed drama that had been exhibited in the previous encounters.

"They didn't do anything different," said Warrior head coach Babe Champion. Nothing different except for what North knows how to do best. Score runs. This was accomplished four times as Keith Burton threw a seven hit shutout to defeat South 4-0 in a Gateway East Conference battle Thursday. Pushing its conference mark to 2-2, North dropped the Warriors to 0-6.

"We have to be able to do something," said Champion. "I have to give credit to those guys for getting hits. But we have to score some runs." Touching home plate was a problem for the Warriors against Burton. Although South did score the crafty right-hander on two occasions.

Down by a run in the third, the Warriors put together their first potential threat of the contest. A one out walk to Steve Ficker was followed by back-to-back singles from Kevin Sykes and Mark

Clark. But Rick Daily's attempt to know the score with the bases loaded was robbed by first baseman Dennis Page. Grabbing Daily's sharp grounder, Ficker instituted the latent rally with a base hit. Clark continued with a two out shot that rattled the left-center field fence at the 325 mark on a line drive. Daily was then walked and with the shutout and possibly the lead in jeopardy, Burton was forced to take a seat on the bench. "He (Burton) tired in the last inning," said Steele head coach Bob Stegemeier. "He got behind on a few hitters and had to pitch defensively. I told him he was going to go seven innings some day."

Reliever Greg Faulkner made sure Burton retained the shutout. Throwing two quick strikes, he caused Cope to bounce back to the mound, ending the threat and the game. "Burton did a really super job," said Stegemeier. "He didn't hurt himself with walks and I thought we played good defense. There are still three weeks before the tournament and once we get Faulkner and Doty going, combined with Cripps and Burton, we'll be alright."

North made its run production simple and to the point. Whenever they got a hit in an inning, they scored a run. Mike Robertson and Page started the beginning of the end to the game. A lead off triple and a ground out RBI gave the Steelers their first and eventual game winning tally.

North rapped out eight more hits as leftfielder Rick Buer banged in two of the Steelers four runs. Bob Ford and Bob Batey continued their torrid hitting going three for three and two for three respectively.

Nesbit coaching for Cougars

By CHRIS OCHOA
for the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — When Sam Nesbit goes out looking for a coaching job in track and field, he'll be able to inform prospective employers that he has a season of collegiate coaching experience under his belt. Which isn't too bad for someone just recently graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Nesbit, a native of Granite City, is assistant coach of the women's track and field team at SIUE. However, this isn't the first time he's coached a women's team. "When I was in high school at Granite City South, I worked with the girls' track team there. The team was just getting started, and the coach needed someone to help out. I used to ride into school with the coach in the mornings, so that's how I got involved," said Nesbit.

Nesbit was on the men's track team at SIUE, and ran distance races. Last season, he was co-captain of the team, with sprinter Mike Grandcolas.

His involvement with the women's team really began last fall, when Cougar Coach

Lori Stark contacted him. "The coach asked me if I would be interested in working with the team this (1980) spring. I knew I'd be graduating after the winter quarter, but I didn't know what would be going on in the spring at that time," said Nesbit.

After graduation, the physical education major decided he'd take Coach Stark up on her offer, and began working with the team toward the end of March.

Nesbit said that working with women athletes differs only in one respect from that of working with men.

"Their (the women's) emotions come out more. They can work just as hard or even harder than male athletes. I'm not the type of person who gets real angry when I'm coaching anyway, but you have to watch yourself, and not get too upset," said Nesbit.

Nesbit plans to continue coaching. "That's the main reason I'm working with the team now. That's better way to gain experience," said Nesbit.

Nesbit added he'd like to continue to coach women's teams. "They're so much more coachable," he said.

East hammers North

By TOM SCHOCKER
For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Experience spelled the fate for the Granite City North girls softball squad here Friday.

With their hands full, the Steelers took on a powerful Belleville East Team. A quick five innings was all it took for the Lancers' Susan Hartse to toss a one hit shutout over North 12-0. The Steelers are still seeking their first victory dropping an 0-9 record. "We are in a complete rebuilding year," said Steele head coach, Chuck Krause. "The girls are up to slow pitch and I find myself having to brood hints, instead imploring them."

Even though connecting for good hits, Belleville still only produced six RBI. Of course North helped the situation committing 10 errors. "A lot of errors," said

Krause, "too many. We made little mistakes and most of them by our best players. When they make mistakes, it shakes up the other girls. We are young and they make young mistakes."

The Steelers tried in vain to produce some type of rally by when the momentum was going, the Lancer defense and Hartse shut the door. "She (Hartse) is our number two pitcher," said Stevenson, "but she's struggling right now. Everything they hit was up in the air." Hartse recorded four strikeouts in the contest while forcing the Steelers to pop up the remainder of their outs. "We are hitting the ball well now," said Krause, "but we just can't get any breaks." North did manage its one and only single in the first inning off the bat of Jill Bledsoe. Other than that the Steelers put just three girls on the bases. Nancy Siebert walked in the third and was out trying to steal second. The fourth saw Connie Siebert reach first via a catchers interference and was joined on base when Tammy Hanfelder drew a two out walk. This proved to be North's biggest threat of the afternoon. "They try," said Krause, "and that is all I can ask. They can play as team when they want to. These girls just have other things on their mind. If we had good pitching and we were winning, it would be different."

 Ed Braasch of Belleville, Ill., the Novice Class for 1980 year riders Kevin Snyder of Taylorville, Ill., and Dennis Trowl of Greeley, Colo. In the fourth heat Ben Firnkies of Belleville won over Kevin Warner of Decatur, Ill., and Dave Lawhorn of Milan, Ill. Randy Lyman of Springfield won the fifth heat over Jamey Peacock of Peoria, Ill., and Dale Anderson of Tuscola, Ill., and in the consolation race Jerry Ochsen of Evansville, Ind., won over Steve Shores of Centralia, Ill., and Dennis Trowl.

A total of 96 motorcycles took part in the racing.

 ches and two passed balls gave North a 4-2 lead. The Steelers broke the game open in the 6th when they scored seven runs on just three hits. Wildcat pitchers gave up six walks in the inning and RBI singles by Dennis Page and Bob Ford gave the Steelers an 11-2 lead.

Ford had a perfect day with three singles, a walk and three RBIs. Bob Bates watched his batting average slip despite going one for two with a double. He started the day with a .522 batting average.

Good winter for SUE

EDWARDSVILLE — The winter collegiate sports scene has reached its nerve-rattling climax, with the thrilling NCAA Division I basketball elimination tournaments gluing sports fans to their TV sets to see the final four at Market Square in Indianapolis last week.

It was a great basketball season, even for schools like Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, which ended up with two winning seasons. Now, Division II and III cage coaches are beating the bushes at various high school state tournaments, attempting to land a player or two who will turn their collegiate squads into winners.

Most coaches and their cage teams are saying: "Just wait until next year." Now, with nearly all schools — at least those on the quarter system — watching their baseball, golf, track and tennis teams head south for sunnier climes, one's mind goes back over the just completed basketball season, men's and women's.

Any number of oddities jump out. Look at the amazing pair of statistics credited to the Cougars' Bill Branz, one of the most underrated collegiate basketball players in the St. Louis area.

A four-season starter for SUE's Cougars, Branz racked up a new school record of 1,057 rebounds over four seasons. That feat, including his top-ranked senior year of 307 rebounds, made him one of the nation's top players on the boards. More amazing, though, was the fact that the Odell, Ill. native, in four years on the SUE cage varsity, poured through exactly 1,657 points, the same as his carous.

Perhaps more serious student of the game will be able to come up with some collation of those two record-breaking figures.

Digging in the SUE record books at the end of the season, one runs across, year after year, and time again, the name of John (Champ) Summers, a key player along with Rich Easton on the Cougars' first winning basketball team under Coach Jim Dudley. It was the 1970-71 season with a 15-11 mark.

Surprisingly, following that great season, Summers, who most fans thought could have played pro basketball — a sport he had played very little in grade and high school and not at all in college until his senior year. Now, Summers, barring injuries during spring drills in Cougars' camp, will be patrolling right field for the Detroit Tigers in the upcoming season.

Tony Johnson, whose record of 26 consecutive free throws in the 1972-73 season was SUE's high until this campaign's freshman, Scott Kabbes, reeled off 41 in a row, is looking for a head coaching job at some high school. Currently, he's an assistant to Lou Gervino at Springfield's Southeast High. Johnson, who must be ranked in the school's top ten players, had many terrific games for the Cougars.

Gene Bounds, an elongated center who came with Dudley from Lake Land Junior College in 1970-71, is now a sales engineer and is building a new home in Granite City.

Scott Kabbes, who won a starter's berth on the basketball team and ended up in the nation's top free throw shooting ranks, has decided not to report to the baseball team. An outstanding shortstop, he could have been a solid backup for Larry Madden. "I've decided to lay out and concentrate on my studies this (spring) quarter," explained the native of Effingham.

Tools and Technique

Barbecue Cooking has come a long way from its humble beginnings a

UTENSILS

All barbecue utensils are long-handled. Musts for the outdoor chef are: a knife and fork with tapered lines for roasting and carving; basting brush to apply sauce evenly; and tongs to hold meat for easy turning.

CHARCOAL COOKING POINTERS

For a successful barbecue, you must begin with a good fire. When cooking with charcoal, follow these simple steps to just the right fire, as called for in the individual recipe, for the food you're cooking.

Stack the briquets in a pyramid and ignite with an electric or chimney-type starter, or place a wad of paper in the bottom of grill; top with a few wood chips and then stack the briquets over the chips; light paper with a match.

Let briquets burn for at least 30 to 40 minutes, or until, in daylight, the coals are covered by a layer of gray ash and at night they have a bright red glow. Spread the briquets into a single layer with tongs and start grilling.

For grilling a small steak, a few chops or some hamburgers or hot dogs, plan on using 12 to 24 briquets. For a roast, whole fish or poultry, plan on using 30 to 40 to start and adding more, if needed.

For a quick temperature test, hold your hand at cooking height, palmside down. If you can keep it there for 2 seconds, you have a hot fire, for 3 seconds, a medium-hot fire, 4 seconds a medium fire and 5 seconds a low heat.

To lower the temperature of the grill, raise the grid or spread out the coals. To raise the temperature of the fire, tap ash from coals or push them closer together.

When you need more coals, add them to the outer edge of hot coals until they are hot, then push into center of fire with long metal tongs.

MAKE YOUR BARBECUE A SAFE ONE

Unit accidents can ruin an otherwise pleasant barbecue. The National Safety Council offers outdoor chefs the following advice:

Techniques For Barbecue Cooking

From the beginnings around an open campfire to the gourmet patio feasts served today.

THE RIGHT LOCATION

NEVER use a charcoal grill in your home or garage, only equipment specially designed for indoor use.

Set the grill in the open on level ground. Check for stability before lighting fire. Be extra cautious on windy days.

PROPER DRESS

Roll up sleeves, tuck in shirt tails and make sure scarves and apron strings won't dangle over the grill.

Wear a large apron of denim or other heavy material and potholder-type gloves as protection against sparks and grease splatters.

START THE FIRE

The safest way to start a fire is to spread charcoal over lighted wood shavings or kindling. There are also some commercially available products that are quite safe, if used as directed—electric starters with the UL label approval and "treated" solid starters.

INTENSIFYING THE FIRE

To freshen a fire, place more charcoal briquets around smoldering ones (see page 39 for more charcoal tips).

We don't recommend liquid starters; however, if you prefer them, NEVER use them once the fire is started, even if it appears to be out.

BARBECUE UTENSILS

Invest in a sturdy long-handled spatula or fork and a pair of long tongs; both keep the chef from getting too near the fire and hot grill.

SPECIAL ROTISSERIE TIPS

If the electric rotisserie cord on a charcoal grill has an ordinary two-prong plug (rather than a three-prong, grounding one), place the grill on a non-conductive surface—never on damp concrete or grass. Even when a three-prong plug is provided, extension cords also should be of the three-wire type.

FOOD SAFETY

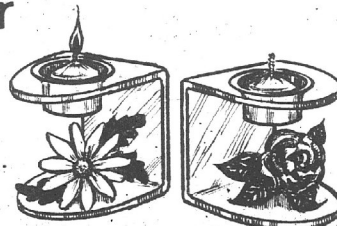

Plan on serving hearty appetizers and filling salads so that hungry guests won't drink too much while waiting for the grilled food.

Keep cold foods in the refrigerator until ready to serve, and hot foods in a chafin dish to keep them from spoiling.
